The town of Cochem

The small town of Cochem is the heart of the tourist region on the Moselle between Bremm and Klotten. The majestic Imperial Castle with its towers and battlements dominates the townscape from almost every angle. Little alleys leading to the medieval market place, the lively Moselle Promenade with its cafés for you to linger, the marina and the welcoming Cochem residents provide the town with its typical holiday atmosphere.

The 12 destinations along the Moselle

Beilstein

Slip into the role of Prince, who wakes the Sleeping Beauty of the Moselle with a kiss. The town of Beilstein is also known as Dornröschen here - meaning Sleeping Beauty. Enjoy the most beautiful weeks of the year behind the old historic walls and indulge in the lovely gastronomy that invites you to sit and linger awhile. The whole historic heart of the town is under a preservation order.

www.beilstein-mosel.de

Bremm

The wine-growing village of Bremm is located on one of the most beautiful loops of the Moselle and at the foot of the steepest vineyard site in Europe, the Calmont. One of the access points for the Calmont via ferrata, which has lead through this extremely steep vineyard slope since 2001. The wine-growers, seasonal wine tavern hosts and restaurateurs invite you to take a break after your hike and enjoy some good food and the best Calmont wines.

www.bremm-mosel.de

Briedern

Located far away from any through traffic, you'll find the sun-kissed holiday resort and wine-growing village of Briedern.

In the old bake house, sourdough bread is still baked in stone ovens using traditional artisan practices. The Servatius Fountain, whose water never runs dry, is attributed with healing powers. A narrow walking trail leads through the rock formations and forests of "Briederner Schweiz".

Bruttig-Fankel

The dual town of Bruttig-Fankel offers the ideal place for a relaxing yet eventful holiday. A modern, dynamic place, nevertheless firmly entrenched in centuries of customs and regional traditions. Picturesque, twisting alleyways, old half-timbered houses with crow-stepped and flying gables, the renaissance architecture of the Schunk'schen Haus dating back to 1659, the two old town halls and two churches are testament to the prosperity and pride of citizens towards the end of the Middle Ages.

www.bruttig-fankel.de

Ediger-Eller

At the heart of the Calmont Region

Awarded the gold medal in the Federal “Unser Dorf hat Zukunft” 2010 competition (“Our village has a future”).

Ediger-Eller offers everything you need for an entertaining holiday - from the Kulturweg der Religionen, the cultural trail of religions, to the adventure of the “Calmont via ferrata”, various Nordic walking routes, golf, canoeing, angling, boules and beach volleyball. Or take a break from everyday life in the traditional, idyllic wine-growing village with lots of historic half-timbered houses and wine-growing estates, with excellent cuisine and choice wines. Regular guided walks through the wine-growing regions and wine tasting.

Ellenz-Poltersdorf

At the heart of the Cochemer Krampen, a particularly winding section of the region named after the characteristic shape of the bends along the Moselle, is Ellenz-Poltersdorf. Wine and landscape have stood in harmony with one another here for centuries. Both districts have managed to retain the historical character of the village. The Moselstausee reservoir and the open-air pool in their charming location in the heart of the vineyards offer fun for the whole family. For hikers, the Moselkrampen trail from Ellenz-Poltersdorf offers a gateway into a wonderful hiking experience through the river landscape typical of the Moselle.

www.ellenz-poltersdorf.de

Ernst

Live the holiday - "Ernst is fun" ... because Ernst is a holiday resort with many faces! To offer its guests an unforgettable time, there is an appealing guest programme with information events, traditional pre-lunch or late evening pint accompanied by music (the tradition of Frühschoppen and Dämmerchoppen), bread baking in historical stone ovens, guided tours and a guest information office, which can provide you with more holiday tips. In the Federal "Unser Dorf hat Zukunft" competition ("Our village has a future"), Ernst was awarded the silver medal for its outstanding commitment.

www.ernst-mosel.de

Klotten

Klotten is characterised by both its wine and slate. The “Moselle slate” was loaded onto barges here and shipped all over the world. The village is laced with narrow alleys, stairs and thoroughfares, which pass by the stone and half-timbered houses, some of which date back to the 16th century. The village is dominated by the ruins of the medieval Co-raidelstein Castle.

www.klotten.de

Mesenich

If you had walked from Senheim along the Moselle to Mesenich 150 years ago, you would have seen lots of large piles of stones in the vineyards, which are known as “Stein-räuschen” - or “stone flushes”. Because no other community from far and wide had as many “Steinräuschen” as Mesenich and there was virtually no other place as rich in stones, residents of the region gave those from Mesenich the name “Mesenicher-Steinreichskäpp” - meaning “Mesenich Rich Heads”. You can see former inhabitants of the village carved into stone along the hiking trail. Mesenich was awarded a gold medal in the “Unser Dorf hat Zukunft” competition at state level.

Nehren

Nehren, which was first mentioned back in 634, is one of the oldest sites in the Moselle Region. The Roman graves situated high up in the vineyards are testament to the Roman past. They are just a short walk from the village over the Kulturweg der Römergräber, the cultural trail of Roman graves. An original Roman winepress stone and a lovely small church in 16th century late Gothic style can also be seen along the trail. The idyllic site also offers good hiking trails, a Nordic Walking route, water sports and angling on the Moselle.

www.nehren-mosel.de

Senheim-Senhals

The double municipality of Senheim-Senhals can be called a village of art: Creative residents have crafted sculptures from a wide range of materials, displaying them as an open-air exhibition which forms a unique symbiosis with the Moselle, the village and the vineyards. The Literatenweg, a trail of literature, also displays linguistic works of art featuring different artists and themes each year. Poems along the edge of the trail invite you to pause awhile and enjoy the plays on words. A wine museum with a smorgasbord of equipment to do with winegrowing is also worth a visit.

Valwig/Valwigerberg

Valwig is of Celtic origin, making it one of the oldest villages on the Moselle. The 500 inhabitants are split between the two districts of Valwig and Valwigerberg. With its narrow alleys and nooks, the village is rich in architectural monuments dating back to centuries gone by. The vineyards above Valwig are home to the Mountain Apollo, a thermophilic species of butterfly normally only found in the Alpine regions. Valwig has won awards for its outstanding ecological achievements and was the regional winner in the “Unser Dorf soll schöner werden - Unser Dorf hat Zukunft” competition (“Our Village needs a Make-Over - Our Village has a Future”).

www.valwig.de

The 4 Eifel destinations

Dohr

Above Cochem on the edge of the Eifel, framed by the Ellerbach River, you will find the small village of Dohr. A well-developed network of cycle and hiking trails around the village and in and around the Ellerbach Valley offer perfect conditions for nature lovers and those looking for some peace and relaxation.

www.gemeinde-dohr.de

Faid

Faid is the best starting point for hiking in the Moselle Valley. A well-signposted network of forest trails and hiking paths with benches offer lots of opportunities to spend some time at one with nature. Whichever trail you decide on, you'll have the best panoramic view from the top. Some trails look out over the old washing area of the "Bohnert Kumb" community, for example, whose spring always carries water, into the Endert Valley.

www.faid.de

Greimersburg

Greimersburg is mentioned for the first time in the 7th century. The village is located away from the hustle and bustle of through traffic, but just a few minutes from the Autobahn exit. A hike through the "Tal der Wilden Endert", the valley of the Endert tributary, with its preserved mills and areas of untouched nature, is a special experience.

www.greimersburg.de

Wirfus

Wirfus is a typical small village in the Eifel region with just 200 inhabitants. It has largely succeeded in preserving its original state and village character. An attractive landscape of forests and meadows tempt you to take a relaxing stroll along the good network of hiking trails. The Villa Margaretha and the ruins of the Rosental Abbey with its small chapel are well worth a visit.

Here is another chance to view the town tour - this time as a complete overview on your smartphone!

knightly banquet

Cochem Imperial Castle

The Imperial Castle with its thousand-year history is one of the attractions in the tourist region of Cochem. No matter from which direction you approach the town, the castle sits enthroned on a steep peak, which rises over 100 metres above the Moselle.

It offers a stunning view from the valley, while a tour of the interior with its great hall, hunting room and bower is highly recommended.

You get an exquisite view over Cochem and the Moselle from the castle.

Tip: Begin the feast – A knightly banquet like in times gone by!

After a tour of the castle, experience a rustic Rittermahl, a feast fit for a knight, in the castle's basement. Servants in historical costumes will provide you with a princely feast. Traditional bread and dripping will do the rounds and a spicy, hot soup steams in the pot. Meat joints from the grill are served as the main course. Minstrels in historic robes provide amusement and traditional music.

Historic town centre of Cochem

The well-preserved remains of the historic town wall with its old fortifications are still testament to the lively history of Cochem, together with the Enderttor with former gatekeeper residence dating back to 1332, the fortified tower with Balduinstor on Kirchhofsmauer-Obergasse and the Burgfrieden-Tor with wall walk.

The Baroque-style town hall from 1737 on the homely market square, the town's so-called "gute Stube", or best room, with Martinsbrunnen and the old, Moselle slate-covered half-timbered gabled houses in the narrow alleys of the Altstadt are eye-catchers.

The Bockbrunnen on the Moselle Promenade depicts a "Cochemer Stückelchen", an ironic form of narrative about the circumstances of our inhabitants' everyday life. The Martinskirche with its unusual church tower is located opposite this. You can access the pedestrian zone through here.

From the Moselle Promenade, the "Fuchsloch", a passage where the smallest Cochem town gate once stood, will take you onto Bernstraße. At the bridge near the tourist information office, you will find a mosaic with the family tree of the town of Cochem.

Old, twisting stone stairways lead to the Klosterberg from the market square. The Capuchin monastery was established in 1630 and sits on a mountain spur. It was a monastery until 1802 and is now the cultural centre of the town.

To reach the Imperial Castle, we recommend making your way over the "Tummelchen", an old burial mound, with its "Zuckertürmchen", a "sugar turret", which used to guard the town boundaries and sits on the remains of the historic town wall. The structure is still preserved today, right up to the very tip of the Tummelchen. As you climb the hill, it's worth a quick detour to see the Weinbergshäuschen, a vineyard hut faithfully replicating the original building. The ruins of Winneburg Castle, built in 1240 and located on a mountain ridge, are also worth a look.

Pinnerkreuz

High up on the Pinnerberg, which can be comfortably and easily reached using the Cochem chair lift, is the Pinnerkreuz, a vantage point with an exquisite view over the Moselle Valley. The name traces back to a shepherd, who wanted to prevent one of his stray animals from falling, but instead lost his own life. The cross was erected as a monument to him.

Tip: Hike through the vineyards to reach the look-out point. Behind the railway station building, there is a hiking trail which leads up the Pinnerberg. See also Chair Lift on page 31.

Historic mustard mill

Experience the almost 20-year old mustard mill under the expert guidance of mustard miller, Wolfgang Steffens. You will discover how this special gourmet mustard is created from first-hand recipes passed on through the generations.

Cochem leisure centre

Indoor wave pool and water park:

The 55-metre fast tube slides and the waterfall ensure there's lots of action in the water park. And there are also lots of people who simply want to swim a few lengths. For training or because it's fun. There's space for lots of sporting ideas here. When you visit us, you can "just" swim or enjoy the waves in the surf of the large pool. Or enjoy the comforting tingling of the giant water mushrooms before every wave session.

Water playgrounds for fantasy and relaxation - Children welcome!

In the unique children's area, children can let off steam in earnest under the 22-metre dome light. Water games are the order of the day: open dams, divert streams, create water landscapes, slide, spray, splash. Next to it, the baby pool with a maximum water level of 20 cm offers water fun for the very little ones. And parents can laze in the heated sun lounge area, bubble in the whirlpool or relax in the quiet zone. And: there's also a sauna, solarium, restaurant, bowling alley, tennis & mini-golf.

Castles in the Moselle Region

There is normally something inherently romantic about them - our castles and castle ruins from the Middle Ages or long-forgotten times. Even today, they sit imposingly and enthroned on the mountain peaks high above the Moselle. For visitors, these look-out points offer exquisite panoramic views over the valley. The same views, from which knights from centuries gone by were able to spot the arrival of their enemies early on. Today, there is only the odd castle which still stands in all its glory. Only ruins of many are left. Nevertheless, all the castles and castle ruins in the Moselle Region are worth a trip.

Below, you will find a list of the buildings in the order they are located up the river, so following the Moselle from Koblenz to Trier.

Specialities of the Moselle - Wine and peaches

Riesling – the queen of the white grapes

The most important vine variety in the Moselle is Riesling. 60 percent of all the vineyards grow this late-ripening, good-quality white wine variety. The reason for the dominance of this vine variety is its particular suitability to the growing region. The steep slate slopes in the tourist region of Cochem offer the ideal conditions for growing the Riesling grape, which produces particularly delicate fruity and mineral wines in the Moselle region. The colour of the wine is greenish through to golden. The bouquet is reminiscent of apricots, peaches and roses.

Basic wine knowledge

Wines of the “specific region” (bestimmtes Anbaugebiet b.A.) of Moselle are available in all quality levels, from quality wine psr (Q.b.A.) through to high-quality wines of superior quality.

The quality levels:

Kabinett

The quality levels of Prädikatswein (wines of special quality) begin with the Kabinett in Germany.

For a Kabinett, the grapes used must come exclusively from the vitis vinifera grape variety, be harvested from a single region and be processed strictly by that specific region into quality wine with distinction, belonging to that region.

The total alcoholic strength of a Kabinett must be at least 9% vol. Quality wines with the “Kabinett” distinction must not be fortified.

Spätlese

Spätlese is a distinction between the Kabinett and Auslese. A Spätlese must fulfil the conditions for a Kabinett wine. The wine grapes must also be harvested from a late vintage in a completely ripe state.

Auslese

The label for wines made from completely ripe and sometimes (but not mandatorily) botrytised grapes, which are selected specifically during the harvest. This can even go to such lengths that individual bunches of grapes and even individual berries are laboriously selected by hand.

In Germany, the Auslese is a special type of wine within the quality wine category, Prädikatsweine.

Beerenauslese

Extra-sweet speciality, which is one of the best quality wines together with Eisweine and Trockenbeerenauslese.

Beerenauslese wines are produced in Germany from over-ripened, botrytised grapes with a minimum must weight of 110-128 °Oe. The fragrance of Beerenauslese wines is only rarely of the primary aroma of the original grape. They often have aromas of honey and exotic fruits.

Trockenbeerenauslese

The highest distinction of all Prädikatsweinen. Trockenbeerenauslese wines are pressed from choice, botrytised, shrivelled grapes, which have a high concentration of sugar and other components due to the water loss through the porous berry skin. It is not permitted to harvest these grapes mechanically. Instead, they must be carefully selected using manual harvesting.

Eiswein

The wine grapes used for Eiswein must still be frozen during their grape harvest and pressing. The Eiswein must satisfy the must weight requirements of a Beerenauslese.

The most important grape varieties in the Moselle region:

- Riesling 60 % of the vineyards
- Müller-Thurgau (Rivaner) 14.5 %
- Elbling 6.4 %
- Blauer Spätburgunder 4 %
- Dornfelder 3.8 %
- Weißer Burgunder 2.7 %

The Red Moselle Vineyard Peach

Long ago, the Romans brought the Red Vineyard Peach, which originated in China, to the Moselle Region. The favourable climatic conditions of the steep vineyard slopes can also cultivate the peach here in our region. It is now one of the traditional delicacies of the Terrassenmosel. At the end of March, beginning of April, long before the first green begins to grow on the vines, the branches of the little peach trees are covered with delicate pink blossoms.

In autumn, the fruit can be harvested. The small furry peaches have an intensively red flesh and are made into jam, ice cream, liqueurs and brandies. Two festivals are dedicated to this special fruit each year: the Blütenfest, a “blossom festival” in the spring and the Tag des Roten Weinbergpfirsichs or the “Day of the Red Vineyard Peach” in autumn. The little trees can be found beneath the Imperial Castle in Cochem, around Ernst and in Ellenz-Poltersdorf.

iTour - Audio-Visual Town-Tour through Cochem

With immediate effect the town of Cochem can be presented to visitors in extraordinary manner: Louis Frédéric Ravené and Mosella guide visitors through this wonderful Moselle town. Ravené is the wealthy Berlin resident who, during the 19th century, fell in love with the ruins of the Reichsburg (Reichs Castle) in Cochem, which he subsequently rebuilt. He is reincarnated during the tour, so to speak. Ravené is accompanied by Mosella. Mosella is a personification of the Moselle. For the purposes of the town-tour she takes on human character.
